The hotel is located on the 30,000 m² facility, consisting of a total of 399 rooms, 948 beds, A main building with 5 floors (286 rooms with 667 beds) and 17 villas with 2 floors (113 rooms 281 beds)

Lyre: The lyre is an ancient string instrument which belongs to the group of harps and had been first used in the 9th century B.C. In ancient Greek, they believed that god Hermes has found the lyre and made it a present to his brother Apollo. The lyre was a symbol of poets and intellectuals during the Hellenistic period and has been also the source of lyric poetry.

Aspendos Antique City

The ancient city of Aspendos, which is located on two small hills, was in ancient times a port city and a center of commerce. Aspendos, which is 53 Km far from Lyra Resort is one of the most visited tourist attractions. Between all the ruins that have been preserved quite well, the amphitheater is at most worth seeing.

Apollo Temple

During the Pax Romana period, in behalf of the gods Apollo and Athena two gorgeous temples were built. The one built for Apollo, the god of light and art, is located 15 km far from the Lyra Resort. The temple is 17 × 30 meters tall and has a rectangular structure. As in the 3rd Century AD. Side started to go over to Christianity, the temple remained in the atrium of a large basilica, and a part of the temple was used in the construction of the basilica. Later, the major pillars of the temple were restored and moved to their original positions.

Alanya Castle

The Castle of Alanya is 45 km far from Lyra Resort and is the only Seljuk castle, which still exists well-preserved. In the year 1225, the Seljuk Sultan Alaeddin Keykubat, erected a new castle on the site of the Roman castle ruins. The castle consists of 83 towers and 140 bastions, which is surrounded by three rows of ending walls and has both, an outdoor area, as well as an indoor area. The castle, which includes the Aya Yorgi church Kanuni Sultan Suleyman Mosque, the Sultan Akşabe Tomb, the Seljuk hammam, Arasta, a Bazaar, the Sitti Zeynep tomb, the Sultan Alaaddin palace, large and small cisterns, a lighthouse and a dungeon, is a treasure trove of ancient history.
